Word has been received from Fred B Cushman, who left his home in St. Johnsbury last Tuesday very suddenly, stating that he will not be back for two months. The letter to his family was mailed from a railway station. Cushman was a cattle buyer and financial troubles seem to be the cause of his departure. His farm has been taken over by a creditor.

An Old Proverb

It used to be proverbial that every man (and it is certainly no less true of woman) is either a fool or a physician at forty. This means that every intelligent person must learn so much about earing for his own health that by the time he is forty years of age he can almost be reckoned as a physician.

Why, then, is there so much talk by doctors against "self-medication"? A woman can recognize all ordinary ailments without calling on a doctor. If they are ailments distinctive to her sex she generally knows enough to use that greatest of all remedies for such all ments, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and likewise she is familiar with the standard remedies for other

Ballads as Newspapers.

The ballad, or that form of it which is associated with the broadside, was one predecessor of the newspaper as a commentator on events. It was writ ten for the people and sold to the peo ple. Printed on poor paper and passed from hand to hand, copies of early bal lads were seldom preserved. Fortu nately several men of the seventeenth century began to make collections of ballads, and the copies of broadsides printed before 1700 that are now in ex istence are supposed to number about 10,000. Soon after 1700 the printed form of the ballad was changed, the "black letter" disappearing, but the ballad continued as a chronicler of hap penings and a commentator on politi cal, military and other public events until the middle of the nineteenth cen tury and in the United States as well as England. The "topical" song of to day perpetuates the satirical function of the ballad:-Springfield Republican.
